

Corrigendum Note to our Readership

The Editorial Board of the African Statistical Journal wishes to extend its apologies to the readership of Volume 4 of May 2007, for incorrectly attributing the authorship of the article entitled "Construction and civil engineering work: Designing a time-space index" to Michel Mouyelo-Katoula and Adalbert Nshimyumuremyi instead of the Bank's Statistics Department which commissioned the work as part of its ICP-Africa research for an appropriate methodology for determining purchasing power parities for the construction sector. We believe that this work needs to be widely disseminated because of its applicability not only in Africa but also in other developing regions of the world with similar construction sector characteristics.
