James Irungu Mwangi is the Executive Director of the Dalberg Group, an advisory firm that focuses on inclusive and sustainable growth. He leads integration and innovation across Dalberg’s five core businesses, which together employ a staff of over 600 in 25 locations across the globe, including 11 countries in Africa.

Mr Mwangi founded Dalberg’s presence in Africa in 2007, and previously served as Global Managing Partner of Dalberg Advisors from 2010 to 2014. He currently serves on the boards of Old Mutual, The Skoll Foundation and One Acre Fund. He holds an honours degree in Economics from Harvard University, was previously with McKinsey & Company, and is an Archbishop Tutu Leadership Fellow (2009), a Young Global Leader of the World Economic Forum (2013), and a member of the Young Presidents’ Organization.
PANELLISTS

PATRICK MWESIGYE
Regional Resource Efficiency Coordinator
United Nations Environment Programme

Mr Mwesigye co-ordinates programmes in UNEP’s Africa Office on green economy, sustainable consumption and production, circular economy, and resource efficient and cleaner production in Africa. Before joining UNEP, he was Executive Director of the Uganda Cleaner Production Centre; Social and Environment Manager of Bujagali Hydroelectric Power Station and Senior Lecturer of Industrial Chemistry at Makerere University in Uganda.

Mr Mwesigye holds a PhD in Chemical Engineering from University of Sydney, Australia, an MSc in Chemical Engineering from Obafemi Awolowo University (Nigeria) and a BSc in Industrial Chemistry from Makerere University (Uganda).

ANTHONY NYONG
Director of the Climate Change and Green Growth Department
African Development Bank

Professor Anthony Nyong has around 30 years of experience in environmental and natural resources management, renewable energy and green growth. Positions he has held at the African Development Bank include Coordinator of the New Deal on Energy Initiative; Head of the Gender, Climate Change and Sustainable Development Unit; and Head of the Compliance and Safeguards Division.

Before joining the Bank, he was a Senior Climate Change Specialist at the International Development Research Centre of Canada and a Professor of Climate Change at the University of Jos in Nigeria. He was a Coordinating Lead Author for the IPCC Fourth Assessment Report and a member of the IPCC Task Group on Data and Scenario Support for Impact and Climate Analysis.

Dr Nyong holds a PhD in Geographical Science from McMaster University in Canada.
Mr Pietracci is based in Johannesburg, South Africa. He is a seasoned executive with 23 years of consulting and operations experience from McKinsey and the Coca-Cola System. He joined the Coca-Cola Company in his native Brazil in 2008 as Strategic Planning and Research VP. After various global positions, in 2014 Mr Pietracci was appointed General Manager for the Andean Region, covering Colombia, Venezuela and Ecuador. He was subsequently appointed Vice-President of Operations for Europe, Middle East & Africa (EMEA) Group, before moving to South Africa.

Mr Pietracci holds a degree in Mechanical Engineering from the Universidade Estadual de Campinas Brazil, and an MBA from INSEAD, France.

Ms Nnoli served as founding Group Chief Sustainability and Governance Officer for Africa’s largest manufacturing conglomerate, Dangote Industries Limited, from March 2017 to June 2020. She has 27 years’ leadership experience in sustainability, strategy, financial inclusion, angel investment, MSME business development, public-private dialogue, negotiation and policy/programme design. Currently, she is also Co-Chair of Private Sector Advisory Group on SDGs in Nigeria, and Co-Chair of the Research Group, Finance and Economy at the Weltethos Institut, Germany.

In academia, she has taught ethics, sustainability and social entrepreneurship at the Lagos Business School/Pan-Atlantic University. She founded the non-profit Growing Businesses Foundation whose network of female entrepreneurs serve as the last mile supply chain for global companies operating across Nigeria. Ms Nnoli is an alumna of the Wharton School at the University of Pennsylvania, the London School of Economics & Political Science and Johann Wolfgang Goethe University, Frankfurt.