A SPECIAL ISSUE OF THE AFRICAN DEVELOPMENT REVIEW ON THE IMPACT OF COVID-19 ON AFRICAN ECONOMIES

African Development Review intends to publish a special issue titled The Impact of COVID-19 on African Economies. The issue will analyze the impact of COVID-19 on African economies with an emphasis on submissions that address the socio-economic impacts of this and other pandemics, as well as policy implications.

GUEST EDITOR
Prof. John C Anyanwu (j.ananywu@afdb.org)
Former Lead Research Economist, African Development Bank

SUBMITTED PAPERS SHOULD RELATE DIRECTLY TO THE COVID-19 PANDEMIC, INCLUDING BUT NOT LIMITED TO THE FOLLOWING AREAS:

- Accommodative Public Policies and Potential Effects
- African and Global Supply Chain Disruptions
- Business Bankruptcies: Winners and Losers
- COVID-19 and Gender Issues
- Debt Sustainability Considerations
- Embedding Behavioral Insights into Policy
- Emerging Opportunities in the Aftermath of the Crisis
- Government Capacity Constraints in Fragile Contexts
- Health Impacts and Opportunities for Strengthening Public Health
- Human Development Challenges in the Time of Pandemics
- National Economic Resilience in Response to the Outbreak
- Socio-economic Impacts of the COVID-19 pandemic

Further, submissions that combine theoretical and empirical contributions deriving from sophisticated economic models are highly encouraged.

KEY DATES AND INFORMATION

- No fee is required to submit for this special issue.
- Manuscripts should be submitted online via https://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/adrev. Kindly indicate that the submission is for the special issue.
- Submitted papers should not be under consideration elsewhere.
- Submissions will be screened with respect to their relevance to the theme of the special issue and then will be peer reviewed according to ADRev standards.
- Manuscripts will be checked for plagiarism before review.
- To be accepted, submitted papers should be in English or French, not exceed 7,000 words in length and be preceded by a 200-word abstract.
- For editorial queries, contact Dr. Yaya Koloma (y.koloma@afdb.org) and Dr. Adeleke Salami (a.salami@afdb.org).